HYDROSKIN 62™

HYDROSKIN® OVERVIEW

NRS developed HydroSkin® to help fill in the gaps between the cold days when you need a full-thickness wetsuit and the hot days when you just need some sunblock. Now in its second generation, HydroSkin has earned its reputation as an important layering addition to every boater's gearbag. The material is ideal for anyone who puts equal priority on insulation and freedom of movement.

- 1- 0.5-mm neoprene core insulates and protects
- 2- 4-way stretch PowerSpan™ outer layer for unrestricted mobility
- 3- New ThermalPlush™ inner lining increases insulation, repels moisture, and dries quickly, too
- 4- Titanium laminate adhesive aids body heat retention
- 5- DWR coating forces water to "bead" and roll off the material

Keep your core warm without sacrificing mobility.

These NRS HydroSkin tops provide the ideal combination of core warmth and freedom of movement. They can be worn alone on cool days when you're looking to take the chill off, or as part of a layering system, with a thin thermal layer underneath and a heavier pile shirt on top.

Stay warmer, float higher, be safer.

The Anti-Gravity Shirt supplements the flotation of your PFD, lifting you higher in the water without constricting your paddling movements. Our windproof 1-mm neoprene Mystery material provides a thermal barrier that resists evaporative cooling and seals your body heat in. Great for adding flotation on big-water days and increasing impact protection while creeking.

*CAUTION: This shirt provides supplemental flotation only. It is not a Coast Guard approved flotation device. It is not intended to replace a life jacket.

Neoprene Overview

A wetsuit offers warm insulation for cold conditions, and provides added padding against bumps and scrapes. We use only the best materials: DuPont® neoprene and YKK® zippers. Here are some explanations of various other features across our wetsuit range:

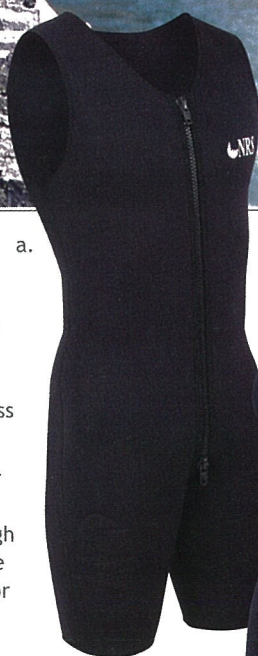

Neoprene Thickness: The most important factor in relation to the warmth of a wetsuit. Thicker neoprene insulates better, losing less heat through evaporative cooling than thinner neoprene. While not as warm, thinner neoprene stretches more for greater comfort and less paddling restriction.

Inner and Outer Layers: We use Titanium adhesive to laminate the inner layer to the neoprene, increasing warmth, durability and comfort. Ultra suits also feature a PowerSpan™ outer layer for more stretch and a MicroPlush™ inner lining in the chest area for greater comfort next to the skin.

Stitching: Most NRS neoprene apparel features glued and blind-stitched seams. Glue acts as a barrier to keep water out and warmth in. The seams of our 2.5 Farmer John and Jane Wetsuits are held together using a low-profile but very strong flat-lock stitch.

Sizing: We offer a full size range plus our Grizzly sizing in select models, specially cut to provide extra room around the chest, waist, thighs and calves. Our sizing guides serve as general guidelines. If you find that your measurements overlap in two different sizes, call our toll-free customer service line for help in finding the best size for you.

"I've tried tons of gloves and nothing keeps my hands as warm as my mitts. If there's one piece of gear I always check twice to make sure they're in my gear bag, it's my Toaster Mitts." -Lee Muhlfeld

Nothing keeps your hands warm like mittens.

If you can't ever seem to find a pair of gloves that really keeps your hands warm, try Toaster Mitts. The 3.5-mm neoprene back provides superior warmth, while the 2.5-mm RawHide™ palm gives you improved control and feel. Fingers are pre-curved for increased grip but flexible enough not to limit your hand's mobility.

Bored with the same old surfing routine? Can't fit your break-down paddle into your new boat? Solve both problems with the NRS Propulsion Gloves. Flexible plastic shims between your fingers keep the glove stiff enough for a good "bite" in the water while still allowing you to latch onto important things, like a found paddle or your skirt's grab loop. Built with 3-mm neoprene.

HIGH PROFILE: Preferred by outfitters, big water boaters and non-swimmers. Flotation is distributed throughout the torso area. Flotation panels tend to be large and thick. Design flotation 22.0 - 27.0 lbs.

About kid's PFDs

The U. S. Coast Guard and NRS strongly recommend that you always have your child wear their PFD when on or near the water.

Adult PFDs are sized by chest circumference, but children's PFDs are rated in weight ranges. Kids' growing bodies are variable in body dimensions for the same weight, and we've found from experience that other factors can influence how a PFD will fit a child. If you have questions, give us a call at 800.635.5202 or e-mail us: service@nrsweb.com and we'll help you pick the best life jacket for your young person.

Don't go on the water without your rescue throw bag; it's an essential safety tool for swimmer rescue and emergency boat extraction. Werner Whitewater Paddles

If you've been looking at all the different paddles out there, wondering how to decide what's best for you, let us help. Every Werner whitewater paddle is made with the highest quality materials and exacting attention to detail to ensure world-class performance. Each paddle comes standard with a fiberglass shaft at 45° offset.

To find the right paddle for you, consider the following options:

Material- You can choose fiberglass or carbon fiber blades, and you can't go wrong either way. Both are very strong and lightweight. Carbon is stiffer, transferring more of your power to the water. Fiberglass flexes more, with a softer, more "whippy" feel.

Straight Shaft or Bent- The straight shaft paddle design has been around for centuries, and it's still the most popular, easy to use choice. The Werner Neutral Bent Shaft design helps align the hand in a more natural gripping position to relieve bone and joint stress.

Shaft Diameter- If your hand measures less than 6.5" from the base of your palm to the tip of your middle finger, Werner offers you the Small Shaft option on most of their paddles. If your hand measures over 7.25", the Standard Shaft is recommended. If you're in between, you can go either way.

Blade Size- If you're big and strong, you can use a larger blade to get more power out of your paddle strokes. If you prefer finesse over force, you can use a smaller blade to prevent exhaustion.

Paddle Length- Proper paddle length depends largely on your own height, and the type of paddling you want to do. Taller paddlers might feel more comfortable with a slightly longer paddle. Additionally, if you want to primarily run rivers and creeks, a longer paddle offers more leverage and power. For playboaters, performing quick strokes and braces can be easier with a shorter paddle.

WERNER

Creek and River Running Range

For their river running and creek blade design, Werner focused their attention on creating a balanced shape that enters the water cleanly at the catch, and pulls through in a smooth, quiet motion. You have the option of three different blade sizes, Small or Standard diameter shaft, and either Bent or Straight shaft design.

Werner Touring Paddles

Shopping for a new touring paddle can be a confusing experience, but Werner makes the decision easy. Werner combines top quality materials, superior designs and detailed craftsmanship to create a range of touring paddles that set the standard for quality and performance worldwide. Each touring paddle is a two-piece breakdown with Werner's innovative adjustable ferrule that can be set to any degree offset. With a few key options to choose from, the Werner paddle you get will be just right for you and your paddling style.

Materials: Fiberglass allows a good deal of flex, giving the paddle a soft, whip-like action through the water. Carbon Fiber is much stiffer, transferring more of your energy through the paddle into the water.

Straight or Bent Shaft: The straight shaft option is simple, intuitive and easy to use because you can put your hands anywhere along the shaft. The ergonomic grip of the Neutral Bent Shaft is a huge relief for anyone who experiences discomfort in their wrists and arms while paddling.

Shaft Diameter: With a proper shaft diameter, you'll avoid "over gripping" the paddle, which will help reduce fatigue. Measure your hand from the tip of your middle finger down to the bottom edge of your palm. If your hand is smaller than 6.5", the Small Shaft diameter will be easier for you to grab. If over 7.25" the Standard Shaft diameter is recommended. If you're in between, you could choose either one.

Blade Style: Werner makes their touring paddles in two different shapes for the two general paddling styles: low angle and high angle. If you're a leisurely paddler, and use wide sweeping strokes to propel your boat, a longer, narrower blade will interface with the water better. If this describes your paddling style, look for low-angle blades. If you lean forward, aggressively digging in for power, a shorter, wider blade will feel more balanced as you pull through. In this case, a high-angle design will work best for you.

Blade Size: Full-size blades are appropriate for stronger, well-conditioned paddlers. Mid-size blades are most popular for the widest range of kayakers. Small-size blades are great for smaller paddlers or for those who want the least amount of resistance.

Paddle Length: This will vary based mostly on your height. Taller people can use a longer paddle to get a comfortable, proportional paddle stroke. Others may find a shorter paddle easier to handle.

Dear NRS,

I've been a fishing and whitewater guide in Colorado, so I have experience with all kinds of rafts and drift boats. Recently I purchased your 13' Otter and full fishing frame. This has to be the best boat I've ever used. The frame and boat are light enough to turn quickly to avoid last minute obstacles and the anchor system works like a charm. We had to chase this rainbow down river and stall the boat when it ran up river. Thanks to your boat I was able to land this beautiful rainbow on the Gunnison River in Colorado.

Thanks NRS,

Lars Santana

NRS Expedition Series Rafts

We build NRS E-Series rafts tough enough to meet the demands of the commercial outfitter. We expect them to be dragged, dropped, scraped, kicked and exposed to the most severe conditions for 365 days a year.

We build them with the most rugged material and beef up high wear areas with our exclusive HD40 wear chafer. We pile on D-rings and carry handles and give you models in multiple shapes, 12' to 18' in length.

We call them "Expedition" rafts for a reason — they're expedition-grade. Made to last a lifetime. The private boater should plan on passing this boat along to the next generation.

- 4) Sleeker, more stylish look

NRS Frame Features:

NRS Frames are the strongest, most adjustable and customizable frame systems for rafts and catarafts. Our stock frames fit a wide variety of NRS and other manufacturers' boats. If one of these stock frames doesn't work for you, our professional Frame Shop crew can modify and customize parts to fit your individual needs.

Choosing Your NRS Frame: Your choice of frame will be determined by the dimensions of your boat, how you plan to use the boat (such as day or multi-day trips, fishing or whitewater) and what you plan to carry. Measure large items like coolers and dryboxes to help determine your boat's carrying capacity. For help in selecting the right frame combination, visit our website: www.nrsweb.com, or give us a call at 800.635.5202.

Your NRS Raft Frame: The frame length is limited by the flat area on the side tubes. Frame width should be as wide or wider than your boat's center-to-center measurement (CCM) of the side tubes. Determine the CCM by subtracting the diameter of one side tube from the width of the boat. Generally, thwart are removed from framed rafts to increase cargo room.

Your NRS Cataraft Frame: Our yoke frames are available in 66" and 72" widths.

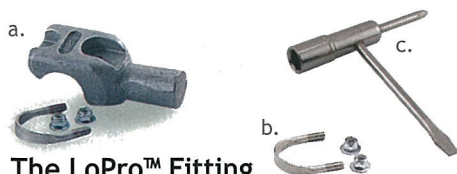

The 66" frames increase maneuverability and are good for narrow, rock strewn passages. The 72" frames increase stability and cargo space. Longer side rails can be made with a breakdown option for ease of transportation and storage. Our Universal Drop Rails (see Universal Frame, pg 75) allow you to adapt a raft frame to fit your cataraft tubes, or to customize your frame width.

Your NRS Fishing Frame: Fishing from rafts and catarafts is an excellent way to put you where the big ones are biting. Our fishing frames are angler tested for stability and convenience. We offer a number of options to help you customize your frame to your individualized type of fishing.

Frame Materials:

We've carefully selected materials that give our frames great strength and rigidity, while keeping weight to a minimum. Frame tubing is 1 5/8" 6061-T6 anodized aluminum, highly resistant to cracking under stress and highly corrosion resistant.

If You Don't See What You Want, We'll Build What You Need!

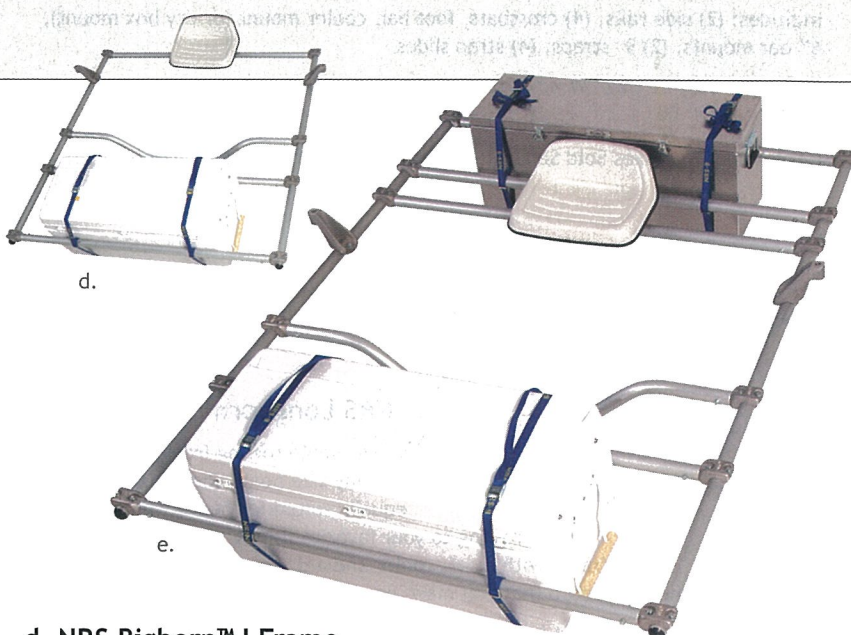

a. The LoPro™ Fitting

Our patented LoPro™ is the key to the adjustability and rigidity of our frame system. Cast in 356-T6 aluminum alloy for maximum strength and corrosion resistance, the shank fits snugly inside our frame tubing and is locked in place with a 5/16" x 2" bolt. A "coined" stainless steel U-bolt secures the LoPro™ to other frame members. Simply loosening the U-bolt nuts lets you slip the pieces apart for easy adjustment and compact transportation.

NRS HD Straps

Introduced over 25 years ago, our straps have been used for virtually every hold-down application imaginable. Keep some in your garage, your storage shed, the trunk of your car and the bed of your truck. You can never have too many, and there are nine lengths and two widths to choose from.

Strongest Buckle

The NRS cam buckle is the strongest and most secure buckle in the industry. Two center-mounted stainless steel springs create a harder bite that's spread evenly across the entire width of the strap. Able to hold over 2,000 pounds tensile load, our buckle is more than twice as strong as other leading cam buckles.

Strongest Webbing

Our high-tenacity polypropylene webbing is custom-manufactured to a tensile strength of 1,500 pounds, then dipped in our own UV protectant to ensure years of durable service in all conditions. We double the webbing over the buckle and use a box stitch for ultimate strength. For easy identification, we indicate the length of each Heavy Duty strap in high-visibility yellow writing woven right into the webbing.

Loop straps are the perfect solution to tie-down situations where you want the strap to stay put when it's not pulled tight. Commonly used on raft frames to strap down coolers and dry boxes. When you unbuckle the strap to get something out of the cooler, each end remains fixed to the frame, ready to be tightened again.

Cataract Oar Shafts

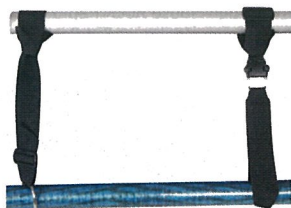

Since 1986, Cataract oar shafts have been the top choice for boaters looking for a stronger, lighter and more responsive oar. Made by Advanced Composites, these maintenance-free fiberglass/carbon shafts weigh less than aluminum, and they're twice as strong. The SGG model flexes through the first part of your stroke, much like a wooden oar. Then the shaft rebounds similar to a fishing pole for strong, whip-like action that translates more of your muscle energy into the water. The 9' and 10' lengths are available with a factory rope wrap. The rope protects the shaft and helps eliminate some of the noise of rowing, which you'll appreciate even if you're not fishing. The SGX model is 50% stiffer, for more efficient power in the longer shaft lengths.

Sawyer Cobra Oarlocks

The unique shape of the Cobra oarlock gives increased strength and range of motion. The wide horns distribute the load of the oar across a larger surface, and the oval opening allows up to 15 degrees more vertical range. Bronze alloy construction can withstand years of heavy use. Deluxe model is threaded to fit the included lock-nut.

NRS Oarlocks

Our Standard Open Oarlocks are industrial-strength. Made from melted-down ship screws, the bronze alloy is strong enough to handle the heaviest whitewater. The Superston Oarlocks are constructed using a stronger bronze/ manganese alloy. Both styles are precision-turned to a 5/8" shaft diameter, with a hole drilled in the end to attach the included split ring. Horn opening is 1-5/8" wide with a 2-3/8" inner diameter. The Stainless Springs fit over the shaft after the oarlock is in place, and keep the oarlock from rattling up and down in the oar mount. Lynchpin Keepers are a simple alternative to split rings, quicker to set and remove, especially with cold fingers.

NRS Pins and Clips

The ultimate grab-and-go solution. This system assures that the oar blade stays in a strong, vertical position no matter what. The steel pin bolts into our standard NRS Oar Mounts, and the powder-coated steel clip attaches firmly to your oar shaft. When the clip locks onto the pin, all you have to do is pull without worrying about whether your blades are square in the water. Keep a spare pin in your emergency kit, and make sure your spare oars are all outfitted with their own clips.

c. Oar Rights

Oar Rights tighten securely over the Molded Oar Sleeve and keep the oar blade square to the water. If you prefer not to "feather" your blades during the recovery, the Oar Rights allow you to simply drop the blade in and begin your stroke without worrying about the blades twisting forward or back. 2 1/4" inner diameter requires Molded Oar Sleeve to fit Cataract and Carlisle shafts.

#1404 / $29.75/pr.

d. Molded Oar Sleeve

Protect your oar shafts from scratches and gouges caused by metal oarlocks. The sleeve tightens into place over the high-wear area of the shaft. Fits Carlisle and Cataract shafts. If you're going to use Oar Rights, you'll need these sleeves to get a correct fit.

#1405 / $12.95 ea.

Plastic Stoppers

These stoppers can be positioned on the oar shaft to keep the oar from slipping out of the oarlock when you let go of the grips. The Large size fits perfectly over the Molded Oar Sleeve; Regular size fits directly onto Cataract and Carlisle shafts; Small size mounts to shafts between 1 3/8" and 1 5/8" outer diameter.

SIZE: S, Regular, L #1400 / $22.95/pr.

Rubber Stoppers

One-piece rubber stoppers slide directly over Cataract and Carlisle oar shafts to keep the oars from slipping away when you let go.

#1402 / $9.95/pr.

Oar Stirrups

For use with the Pin and Clip oar system, these stirrups keep your oar from falling completely away should the clip come off the pin. Includes mounting washers and instructions. NRS model is made of tough black Hypalon. Carlson model is made of more rigid polyethylene.
