TERRAPRENE™

THE ALTERNATIVE NEOPRENE.

Terraprene is made from rock, but a very different kind of rock. As we all know, oil, or petroleum, is in short supply, and its exploration, production, and transportation creates all sorts of problems. Traditional neoprene is a petroleum-based product. Searching for an alternative neoprene for wetsuits, we discovered Terraprene. It's made from limestone (calcium carbonate), one of the most plentiful minerals on earth.

Nearly every NRS neoprene product is made with Terraprene.

CLEARWATER
Drifter

Clearwater Drifter | NEW

If you're a river fisherman looking for an edge, you need to consider the NRS Clearwater Drifter. This revolutionary inflatable craft combines the time-tested design of a drift boat with the rugged utility of a self-bailing raft.

- Self-bailing hull handles shallow water like a raft, while tracking like a traditional drift boat
- Tough drop-stitch material inflates to a rigid 9 psi, creating a stout 17-foot boat
- Modular frame assembles quickly, giving excellent support for two fishermen and the rower
- The three-chamber hull and integrated frame provide a wide safety margin, even if a chamber is compromised
- The Drifter easily stows in a car, garage, or aircraft for fly-in trips
- Includes oar mounts, oarlocks, seats, casting platforms, thigh hooks, stripping baskets, anchor system, storage bag, top-off pump and repair kit

Same great flavor, now with extra sauce.

If we were satisfied with the standard order, then we wouldn't be boaters. That's why, when redesigning our popular Flux Drytop, we poured on more of the tasty stuff. With beefy TriTon™ three-layer fabric, a sweet new cut and in-your-face style, the 2013 Flux drips with bold and spicy goodness. Maybe we should call it the Reflux. Or maybe not.
